

KNIFESTYLES OF THE RICH & FAMOUS

The Real co-host Adrienne Bailon has been honest about going under the knife; she's admitted to getting breast implants at age 19, which she later removed. But in 2014, she claimed she wouldn't go down that path from the neck up. "I personally would never touch my face," Adrienne said at the time. "That's a little too scary for me." Did Adrienne, now 33, change her mind? "I think she's had rhinoplasty and lip filler, and maybe cheek augmentation as well," says Beverly Hills plastic surgeon Dr. Babak Dadvand, who — like the other experts quoted in this story — has not treated

Adrienne. Cosmetic surgeon Dr. David Amron also believes she's had fillers in her mid-face, pointing out her more chiseled cheekbones: "She has a more sculpted look now," he says. And while Dr. Alexander Rivkin warns she should stop filler and Botox injections while she's ahead ("she looks somewhat unnatural," he says), plastic surgeon Dr. Ryan Neinstein approves of her appearance: "Adrienne still has a classic feminine soft look that we rarely see among celebrities these days." LS

NOW

BROWS

"Her brows have arched to an ideal position, giving a very sensual look," says Dr. Neinstein. That slight elevation can be achieved with Botox at a cost of $1.2K per treatment.

EYES

In addition to lifting the eyebrows, Botox also removes lines and creases next to the eyes. "It looks like she uses Botox to prevent crow's-feet," observes Dr. Amron.

SKIN

"Her skin is flawless," says Miami plastic surgeon Dr. Leonard Hochstein. He credits a resurfacing system like the Halo laser or Broadband Light (BBL). Price tag: $1K-$1.3K.

LIPS

"Her lower lip used to be twice as thick as her upper lip," notes Dr. Dadvand. "Now, they're almost the same thickness." Lip fillers come with a price tag of $1K a pop.
